

WASHINGTON SMART SOCIETY.

Largest rentals in Washington, has in past seasons served as the temporary home of the Secretary of State and Mrs. Root, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Phipps formerly of Pittsburg, but now of London, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas T. Gaff, of Cincinnati. Mr. Jennings is one of the growing colony of South African mine owners in Washington, where he was preceded by Henry Cleveland Perkins and Gardiner Williams, whose fortunes are also largely from this same solid source. Another of the winter's golden girls is Miss Eleanor Slater, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Slater, of Providence, R. I. and the granddaughter of the well-known philanthropist who established the Slater Educational Fund, for the benefit of negro education in the South. Mr. and Mrs. Slater a few years ago bought the former home of ex-Secretary Whitney, on I street, which has been the scene of as many notable entertainments as any private house in Washington. So that Miss Slater will make her debut in the ballroom wherein Mrs. James Brown Potter, at the very opening of her dramatic career, shocked all Washington by her recitation of the once-famous "Osler Joe."

Ex-Postmaster General Wanamaker occupied the house during the Harrison administration, later selling it to S. S. Howland, of New York, whose wife was a Miss Belmont, a leader of Washington's smartest society until her death. The Misses Theodora and Margaret Shonta, daughters of the chairman of the Panama Canal Commission, will be in the debutante ranks, although they have enjoyed the unusual distinction of a presentation at court and all the delights of a London season without any American debut. Mrs. Shonta and daughter are expected in Washington during the coming week to take possession of a handsome home on New Hampshire avenue, which they have leased for the season, and where Mr. and Mrs. Shonta expect to entertain very extensively. The Misses Shonta were educated at Mount Vernon Seminary, in this city, so will find some acquaintances already in Washington.

The naming of Miss Ethel Roosevelt and Elizabeth Rosen, daughter of the Russian Ambassador, among this year's buds is quite without authority and has caused some annoyance to the friends of these youthful maidens, who are still in the schoolroom. Miss Roosevelt having celebrated her fifteenth year in the past summer, while the Ambassador's daughter has but two additional years to her credit. The latter, however, will probably come out next year, as she is an extremely advanced young person, charmingly educated in the foreign fashion, and already taking a flattering position in American Society.
